This bulletin is a farming "Atlas" for Canada. 114 maps in colour and in black and white display the characteristics of Canadian Agriculture at a glance. This bulletin breaks new ground in census of agriculture data dissemination and is the most ambitious and timely compilation of maps ever put together about Canadian agriculture from census data.

$6.00

96-872 Evaluation of Data Quality. Bilingual. 50 pp.

This bulletin contains an evaluation supported by tables of the coverage of the 1976 Census of Agriculture.

$2.25

Popular Series.

The five 1976 Census popular studies are produced in a journalistic style with coloured art work, simple graphs and summary tables. These studies are primarily intended for use at the high school and community college/university levels. They may, however, be of interest to the general public and other groups.

98-800E Canada's Elderly. E. and F. 32 pp.

Highlights some of the following facts about our aging population: declining fertility trends mainly account for the growing proportion of elderly; most of the elderly live in family settings but many elderly women live alone; almost half of all persons living in collective dwellings are elderly; Prince Edward Island has the highest proportion of elderly to its population; it is estimated that by 2001 the proportion of elderly may reach between 11 and 12 percent.

$1.25

98-801E Canada's Families. E. and F.

Discusses many of the changes taking place in the traditional structure of the family: today's families are much smaller than ever before; families are more ready to disband if things are not working out between husband and wife, marriages, however, are on the increase; the number of female lone-parent families rose rapidly between 1971 and 1976, while their male counterparts actually declined; more and more wives are working outside the home and many of them have young children; low income families spend a greater proportion of their budgets on food and shelter than high income families; by 2001 there could be between 8.4 and 9.1 million families in Canada.

$1.25

98-802E Canada's Population. E. and F.

Totalled 5.4 million in 1901 and by 1976 had increased to 23 million. The present century witnessed three major trends in population growth since the peak growth rate of 3.4% between 1901 and 1911: the number of females exceeded the number of males for the first time in 1976; the proportion of young children in the population is declining while the proportion of elderly is increasing; Canada's working age population increased from 9.2 million in 1961 to 12.7 million in 1976; single men outnumber single women, but widowed women far exceed widowed men; British Columbia and Alberta had the greatest population percentage increase during 1971-1976; by 2001 Canada's population is likely to reach between 28.1 and 31 million; migration is expected to play an important role in future population growth in Canada.

$1.25

98-803E Canada's Cities. E. and F. 32 pp.

Brings together some of the facts about our highly urban population: between 1901 and 1971 the share of the urban population increased from 37.5% to 76.1%; Calgary was Canada's fastest growing census metropolitan area, while the population of the Windsor census metropolitan area actually declined between 1971 and 1976; also during those years, nine central cities recorded declines in their populations; most of the growth has occurred in the suburbs; Thunder Bay has the largest proportion of private households occupying single-detached dwellings among the census metropolitan areas and Montreal the largest proportion occupying apartmentments; French is the dominant mother tongue for Chicoutimi-Jonquière and English the most dominant for St. John's. Along with the slowdown in urban growth in recent years (1971-1976) there is a hint of a renewed interest in rural living.

$1.25

98-804E Canada's Female Labour Force. E. and F. 34 pp.

Many facts about the female labour force are revealed: close to four million women were in the labour force in 1976; in recent years they have been entering the labour market at a faster rate than men; nearly two-thirds of the female labour force are married, the majority are in the younger age groups and they tend to have fewer children than those not in the labour force; women have higher unemployment rates than men and they work in a narrower range of industries; although men have higher average annual incomes than women, some of this difference is accounted for by full- or part-time work and length of work experience.

Census continued

98-810 Children in Canadian Families. by Sylvia T. Wargon. Bilingual. 109 pp.

The proclamation of 1979 as the "Year of the Child" by the United Nations seemed a fitting occasion for a presentation on Canadian children by Statistics Canada's Social Statistics Field. This publication is intended for those who are interested in statistical series, data sources, and a general picture of the main features of recent demographic trends and aspects of children in Canadian families as revealed in the Canadian census data. The emphasis is on the display of data series not available elsewhere, and on their description and interpretation in broad outline form.
